

Brach Eichler and TCDI Present: Effective Strategies for Managing AI in the Workplace – Part 2

The graphic features a grey background with a grid of squares. At the top left is the Brach Eichler LLC logo with the tagline 'Counsellors at Law'. At the top right is the TCDI logo. Below the logos, a teal banner reads 'Brach Eichler and TCDI present Part 2 of a 3-part webinar series'. The main title 'EFFECTIVE STRATEGIES FOR MANAGING AI IN THE WORKPLACE' is in large white letters, followed by 'PART 2: THE SOLUTION - BUILDING AN AI GOVERNANCE STRUCTURE' in teal. A quote in italics states: 'Practical solutions to the risks of using AI in the workplace—including how to harness AI effectively, why good governance matters, how to establish a written AI use policy, and the importance of continued awareness, education, and training.' Below this, it says 'Presented by' and shows three speakers: Lani Dornfeld, Esq., CHPC (Member, Healthcare, Brach Eichler LLC), Jay Sabin, Esq. (Member, Labor & Employment, Brach Eichler LLC), and Emily Fedeles (SVP, Emerging Technologies, TCDI). On the left, a 'LIVE WEBINAR' badge is shown above the date 'FEBRUARY 25, 2026' and time '12:30-1:30PM'. A 'REGISTER NOW' button with a right arrow is below that. On the right, a 'SAVE THE DATE!' badge is shown above 'PART 3' and 'MARCH 25, 2026'. At the bottom left, it says 'NJ CLE PENDING APPROVAL'. At the bottom center, a contact line reads 'For questions, contact Jennifer at jbneta@bracheichler.com'.

As artificial intelligence continues to reshape the workplace, organizations must ensure that governance keeps pace with innovation. In Part One of our three-part webinar series, Effective Strategies for Managing AI in the Workplace, we explored how generative AI tools are being used and the legal and operational risks employers need to understand. If you missed it, you can watch the recording here:
